HOMECOMING
October 11, 12, 13, 1985

Events decided

Paloma/Closson win

As the Homecoming events winded down last week, points were added and the resulting winners of the competitive events held between houses on campus were announced. Of the seven activities that went on, there were two houses that ended up winning the Homecoming Spirit Award - Paloma and Closson. The two houses that came in second and third were Shaddai and Faunce/Aponivi. The rundown of events and corresponding winners is as follows:

Kite-flying - Paloma/Closson
Tug-of-War - Paloma/Closson
Fast-Fruit-Relay - Paloma/Closson
Go-Kart Races - Shaddai
Creativeness and Design - Shaddai
Building Decorations -
Paloma/Closson

The first place winners of the Homecoming Spirit Award will receive $75 and a commemorative plaque to be displayed in the MSC. The runners-up also received prizes: Shaddai got $50 for second place, while Faunce/Aponivi got $25. The money will be divided between those winners with more than one house, and put into the house funds of each house.

Congratulations to all the winners!

To A Friend.....From A Friend

Hello Paloma Women;

Anything real exciting happening? It is about 65° and I sunbathe almost everymorning. I got a teeny [weeny] tan. I am sending a picture of mama DL with this letter but I don't think she'll hang it up. It is very interesting.

Did all of you have a nice holiday? I did. I spent all my time with my honey (Brian) except when I was on the phone with my Graceland Friends (Thank for calling!). We spent a day in Berkeley with allways provides some kind of entertainment.

For my birthday Brian is taking me to a dance place in San Fransisco. It should be a lot of fun because I love to dance. His fraternity has dances so I'll drive up to Cal State Chico on the weekends.

I got a new car (86 Rolls Royce) 86 Nissan Sentra and I have named it The P.E. Mobile (if you don't know what P.E. stands for ask Lori, Janet, or Lillie). I go to school at U.C.L.A. (actually it is University at Chabot of the Livermore Area) and I now am also majoring in Fashion Merchandising We get to go to the mall and coordinate clothes. I also have a job working in an optemetrist (eye doctor for the people, like me, who don't know what it is) office. Well, enough about me! Write + tell me how you all are! Greeting Card 3034

Dear Paloma,

I am writing to you because I would really like to be your chaplain next year. I have been actively involved both this year and last year in the religious life program, and I would like to share the excitement with you that I have found there. I want to help get the hall excited about God and the religious life program on campus. I think it is important for each person to find what God means to them and not have someone else's meaning of God shoved on them. I would like to help each person, in any way I can, find their own relationship with God. I get excited when I see other people work through Christ, and I feel good when I know that I am serving Christ. I feel that I have the commitment and the caring and creative qualities that this position requires. Chaplain is a position that I know I would enjoy and would do a good job at.

I love Paloma and each and every person on the hall. I am always willing to listen, or give a smile and a hug. I want to serve the hall and God, and would love to do this by being Chaplain.

Love in Christ,

Cheryl

Dear Paloma,

I am very excited about running for Chaplain next year! I feel that this is a very important position. I would love the opportunity to give each person on this hall a chance to worship during devotions, to share in fellowship with their friends, and to grow closer together. It makes me feel very good to know that I can help share God's love and bring other people closer to him.

I have a lot of ideas for devotions and would even like to try planning some type of weekend away from Graceland with our brother house as friends for fun and fellowship.

I really enjoy listening to people and getting to know them better, because each one is very special!

Love you all! Lisa

Get To Know The G.S.G. Candidates

Cleda Covert

Peggy Wertz
Staff Reporter

Cleda Covert, Speaker of Senate candidate, is a senior working towards a History major. Covert began thinking about the position at the beginning of the year, but very recently decided to run.

"I'd like to get the student body more involved and find out from them what kind of things they'd like work on cable in the dorms. Third, Covert would like to see some changes in the parking lot situation. Finally, she would, if elected, organize a workshop at the end of this semester to orient the new senators with their responsibilities for the upcoming year. Covert has had a lot of experience in leadership

Speaker of the Senate

Wendy Noftsger

By Peggy Wertz
Staff Reporter

Wendy Noftsger, Speaker of Senate candidate, is a sophomore working towards a Political Science/History major.

Running for Speaker has been an interest all year. The closer it came to election time, the more seriously she considered it.

Noftsger is the Parking Lot Committee Chairperson this semester for Senate. She feels it has been a good learning experience for her.

"I've had a lot of experience dealing with problems as Parking Lot Chair. It hasn't been an easy job because I take flack from all sides."

She feels she is responsible and organized and capable of making decisions.

"If I have a question about something I'm not afraid of asking for help."

Noftsger also has experience as a SAC rep second semester last year.

"I got started early in student government. I like to see things get done."

Noftsger has three goals if elected. First, she would like to work on roommate rights contracts. Her second goal would be to organize a special committee that would look into possible changes in the visitation policy. Her third goal would be to have the House Council Recognition fund become a reality.

Noftsger feels communication is very important. She would work with the Senate to be more open to the concerns of the houses, rather than just individual senators.

Finally, Noftsger encourages people to get out and vote.

"Get involved in student government. It's there for you."

To the members of Acadia (the girls house mentioned in last weeks "soapbox.")

I would like to take this oppertunity to congratulate all of you for showing such house spirit when you greeted your brother-house on Sunday, September 21, at 8:30am. Granted, this is a very unusual time to serenade your brother house, Dreimon, but non-the-less it not only shows how much house spirit Acadia really has, it also shows the affection you have for your brother-house. It's mind-boggling to think how early you girls had to get up to get ready for this house function. I'm guessing that many of you girls could have been found the night before down at "Choosings" dancing the night away. Did this late saturday night stifle your spirit sunday morning when you could have easily slept in a while longer instead of attempting to brighten the sunday morning of your brother house. No it did not. You girls decided to sacrifice your eight hours of sleep and visit Dreimon. And how were you recieved by your brother house? Certainly not with the cheers of affection you deserved. Instead, you were greeted with complaints not just from Spamvolly Hall and the Addition but also from the men of Dreimon themselves.

In closing I would like to state that I think Dreimon should open their eyes (in more ways than one) and see what a great sister house they have in Acadia. And to Acadia: I would again like to congratulate you girls for having such great house spirit and say "Keep up the good work."

Sincerely

Dear Sweet PALOMA,

This letter is in reference to The Soapbox in the sept. 26,1986 editoin of The Graceland Tower. We hope that you will find it in your gracious hearts to forgive this act of misintelligence, moronism, simple-headed, weak-minded, unthinking, not to mention thoughtlessness. This act was performed by one of our Orion BOYS. I call him a boy because only boyish maturity would alow such thought patterns. The feeling brought across by the article in question is not a mutual Orion feeling. Many of us fully enjoyed being serenaded by the best sister house in existence. Yes, it woke us up, but what better way to wake up than to a tune sung by multiple Angelical voices, accompanied by equelly Angelical bodies and faces. Many of us would like to say, THANK YOU PALOMA!!! It is nice to know that you care enough to get up early and give us the most outstanding wake up call ever recieved. We would like you to know that we appreciate and LOVE you. We are sorry that one of our boys feels he is the equel of the north end of a south bound donkey. We hope that you will forgive us for letting such an act to take place. We have no control over what the Tower prints, but we are working on corecting the problem. Thank you.

Signed,

An ORION senior

Jackets Great at Homecoming

Last Saturday, the Graceland Yellowjacket football team took on the Owls of Tarkio College before a Homecoming crowd of approximately 2,300. The day threatened to be very cloudy, rainy, and wet, but when game time came the clouds cleared and both the sun and Graceland began to shine.

The Owls, ranked 15th in the nation before Saturday's game, opened the scoring on an 8-yard touchdown run early in the first quarter. Graceland came fighting back, though, and with 50 seconds left in the first quarter, freshman quarterback Erik Simon hit sophomore tight end Tim Davis with an 8-yard touchdown pass. Sophomore Jim Determann kicked the extra point to tie the score.

In the second quarter, Graceland took the lead when sophomore runningback Al Ross broke away for an exciting 70-yard touchdown. The extra point was blocked. Late in the same quarter, Tarkio's Jose Vargus kicked a 42-yard field goal to make the score 13-10 Graceland at the half.

Scoring opened in the second half when Simon connected with sophomore wide receiver Garrett Davey for a 10-yard touchdown pass. The Jackets attempted to pass for a 2-point conversion and it was completed, but then nullified due to a penalty.

Graceland scored once more, in the fourth quarter. A 46-yard pass from Simon to Carl Vanterpool set up a 1-yard run by Vanterpool for the touchdown. The extra point by Determann was good and the final score stood 26-10 Graceland.

The happy Homecoming crowd watching the big win over Tarkio.

As a team, Graceland compiled excellent statistics against the nationally-ranked Owls. The Jackets had 341 yards total offense; Tarkio had just 192. Graceland held the Owls to just 36 yards total passing. Individually, Al Ross led Graceland in rushing with 93 yards on 8 carries; Simon passed for 172 yards and 2 touchdowns. C defense, freshman Sidney Bingha compiled 14 tackles, including solos, broke up 1 pass a recovered a fumble.

Graceland is now 3-1 overall; 1 in the Heart of American Athle Conference. The Jackets' ne home game is Saturday, Octob 11, at 1:30 p.m. at Graceland Bruce Jenner Sports Compl against Mid-America Nazare College at Olathe, Kansas.

At Monday's GSG Senate meeting, the legislative body initiated the process to modify their own by-laws. The proposed changes (which were decribed in last week's issue) were approved by the Senate. The approval will lead to the changes being brought before the students as a whole in a special forthcoming election.

A proposal was brought up concerning the new holder of a position on the Council for Student Welfare. Dean of Students Tom Powell explained that this was a disciplinary group made up of four faculty members and three students. Acting Cheville Senator Reggie Bowerman expressed his concern that there was no open notice given that there was a vacancy, nor was there a notice for applying for the recently-filled position. Faunce Senator Brent Hancock moved to table the measure until the next meeting, and the motion passed.

In other business, the Senate

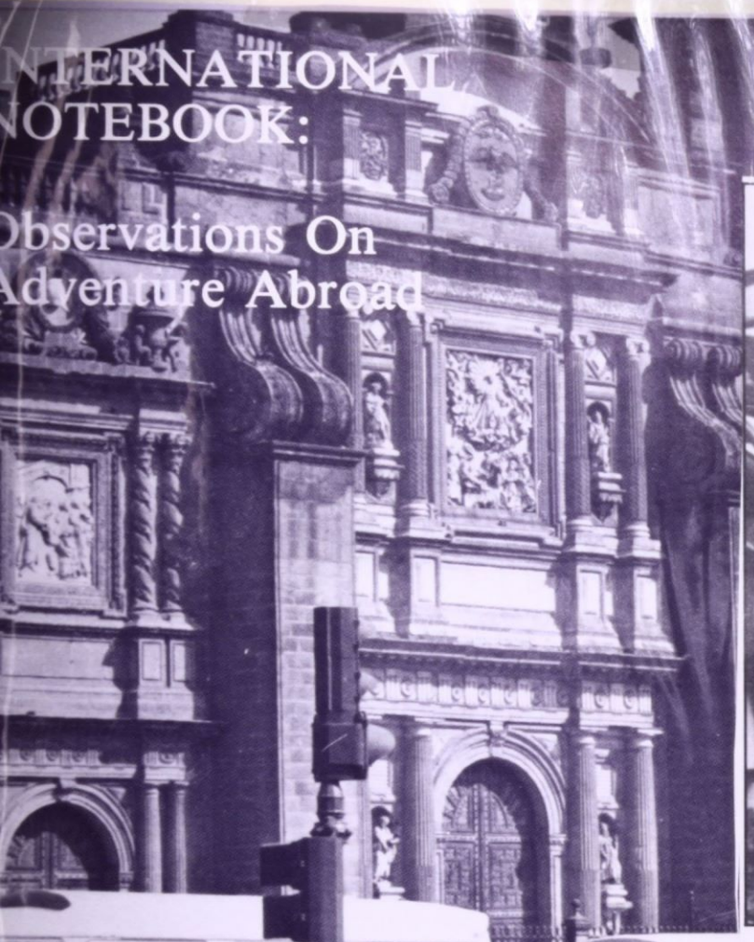
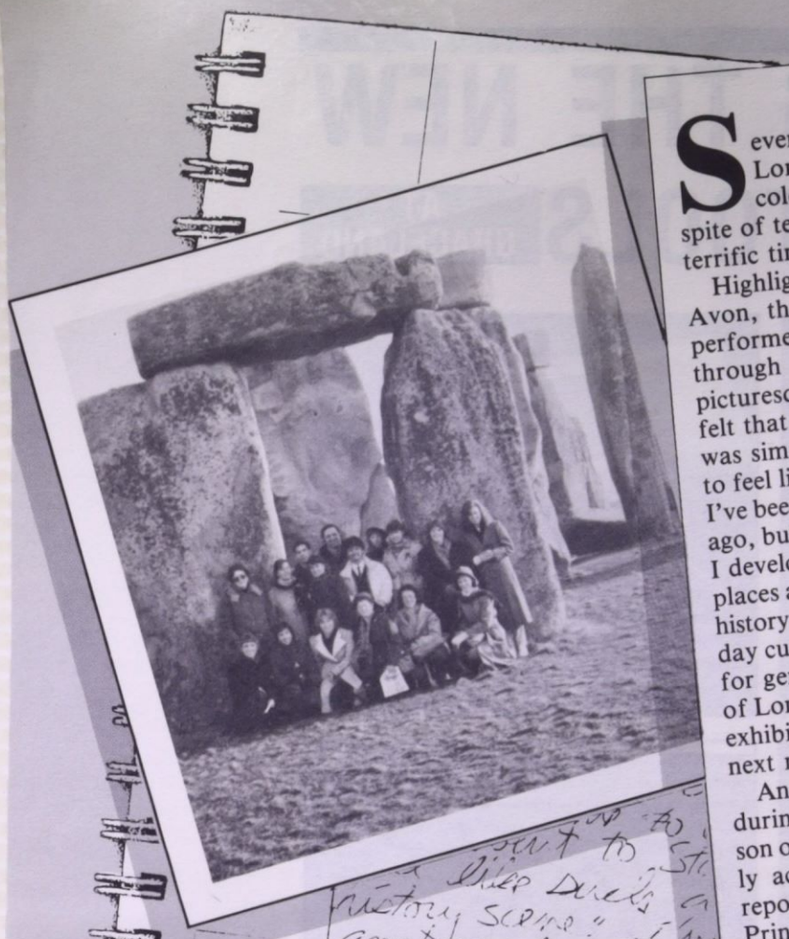
Observations On Adventure Abroad



Graceland's Marching Band in action, Homecoming '86.



ENGLAND

Seventeen students and two instructors traveled to London for Winter Term and were greated with the coldest winter since records have been kept there. In spite of temperatures rivalling Iowa in January, we had a terrific time in and around London.

Highlights for me included our trip to Stratford-Upon-Avon, the tour of Shakespeare's birthplace and Macbeth performed by the Royal Shakespeare Company. The drive through the countryside was full of little villages with picturesque, thatched buildings surrounding the church. I felt that I had been transported back in time to when life was simpler. We also went to Stonehenge. There I began to feel like such a youngster on the "world history-scene." I've been concerned with events and people 40, 80, 200 years ago, but in England I had to think back thousands of years. I developed a real feeling for the historical significance of places and buildings. The English people are proud of their history and this is evident in street names, laws and the every-day customs of the people, which have been handed down for generations. I reaped the benefit of the fine museums of London. One could spend weeks wandering through the exhibits and still be fasicinated by what is displayed in the next room.

An unexpected addition to our daily itinerary began during our second week in London. Prince William (eldest son of the Prince and Princess of Wales) began school directly across from our hotel. On the first day there were reporters swarming everywhere, but after that we watched Princess Diana bring him every morning at 9:00. It was a great picture opportunity, and we took advantage of it.

My Winter Term focused on the arts in London, and there was certainly plenty to see, hear and experience. We sampled ballet, opera, orchestral music, visual arts and theatre. I will not soon forget the performance of the musical Me and My Girl. The leading lady came down and sat on my lap.

Music and art seemed to permeate the London society. There were musicians playing in the subway stations and on the sidewalk. Paintings were offered for sale from the fences of public parks, and the ever-present advertising posters and billboards were artfully done.

At first, I was impressed with the feeling of being a foreigner even though I spoke the language. Everyone seemed to think and act differently from what I was acustomed to. I soon learned how to blend in and not appear the tourist when on a busy street or on the subway. It wasn't hard to begin to catch on to the English way of life and to not be surprised by different terminology or strange customs. I began to "think British" and felt a part of the country, not just a visitor.

Our Graceland group was varied in background, academic interest and age. Getting to know them was a unique experience in itself. We soon developed a good rapport with each other and enjoyed sharing each day's adventure with such a fun-loving group.

After three weeks I was ready to get back to American food, bigger rooms and family and friends, but the experiences I had in London will always be with me and set me planning, even now, for a return trip.

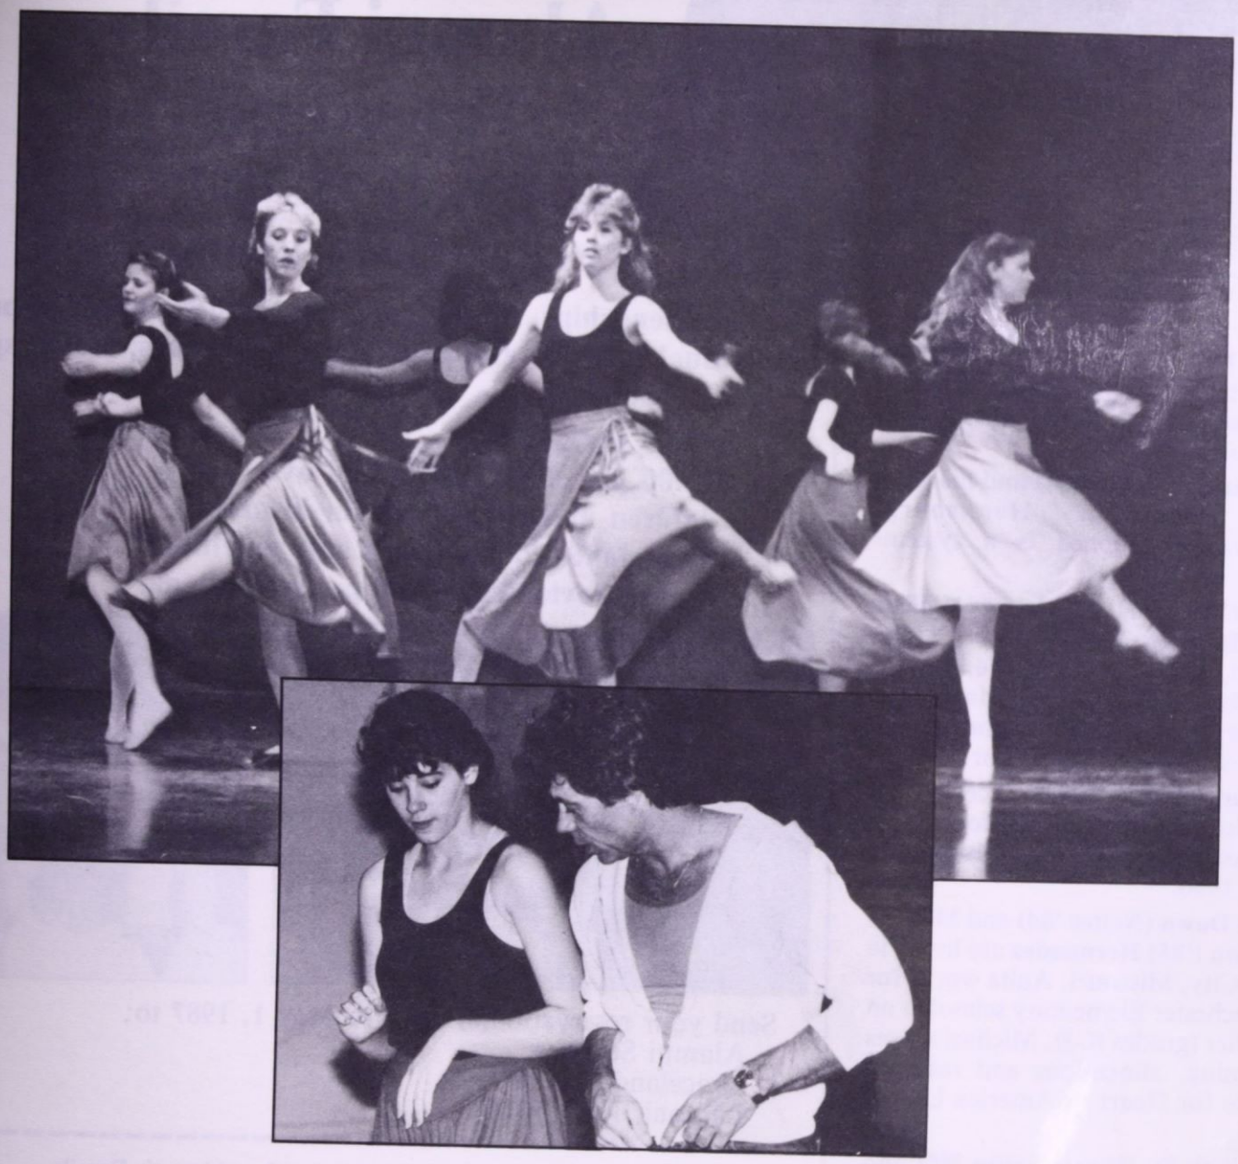
PARTING SHOTS



Wayne Dugger ('60), Hollywood choreographer, returned to Graceland to teach a Winter Term class entitled "Dance Basics." The course was so popular it was divided into two groups, each meeting three hours a day. Wayne taught a variety of dance styles including rock, athletic, ballet, tango and Broadway chorus line. At the end of the term, the class performed for the Graceland campus and community.

Directing shows is not new to Wayne. He worked with Mitzi Gaynor for eleven years. After leaving her show, Wayne was assistant choreographer for the Opening and Closing Ceremonies for the 1984 Los Angeles Summer Olympics. He has also worked on a variety of television and Broadway shows.
